The Higher Diploma in Arts is a programme of study running for 9 months (full-time) or 18 months (part-time) from the date of first registration for the programme. It is intended for those who already have a 3 or 4 year primary degree, preferably in the area of Arts or the Sciences, and who wish to study one of the following listed subjects intensively over one academic year. Archaeology, Béaloideas, Celtic Civilisation, English, Folklore, French, Geography, German, Greek and Roman Civilisation, History, History of Art, Italian, Music, Nua-Ghaeilge/Modern Irish, Philosophy, Politics, Sociology, Spanish and Study of Religions. The Higher Diploma in Arts is a conversion programme and applicants would not normally have studied the relevant subject to Honours Degree level previously.

The Higher Diploma in Arts shall consist of modules to the value of 60 credits taken from a range of existing Second and Final Arts modules in the relevant subject. Suitable modules as well as attendance requirements and coursework are determined by the relevant departments/schools and approved by the College of Arts, Celtic Studies and Social Sciences. For any given subject, the programme of study to be followed may differ for each individual student, depending on the individual's background and preferred area of specialisation.

Graduates (other than those eligible to apply for the Masters Qualifying Examination (<https://ucc-ie-public.courseleaf.com/postgraduate/master/arts-celtic-studies-social-sciences/arts/masters-qualifying-examination/>)) may be permitted to proceed to a Master's Degree programme, provided they sit (with the permission of the College of Arts, Celtic Studies and Social Sciences) for a Higher Diploma in Arts in the relevant subject and attain at least Second Class Honours standard therein.
